English Course – Lingford

Feedback – Lesson 1

Date: 29 October 2026
Student:
Course: Professional communication

Hello again dea

First, I really want to thank you for the lesson and for your very active participation. I am absolutely happy with your performance today. It was an encouraging and productive start, and you gave yourself fully to the work.

Let me start with the strengths

You really very actively participated across the whole session and showed exactly the kind of active approach that leads to real progress.

EXCELLENT image description: This was a clear highlight. When we worked with the images, you described them with good detail, clear structure and a natural willingness to keep speaking. You did not stop at one short sentence and you developed the description and stayed in control of the language. We just need now to get to describe things more precisely and with more details. That skill is very useful for travel situations, site conversations and coordination meetings, and you handled it with real confidence.

Very active participation: You took part fully in every task. You responded, you tried, and you stayed engaged even when the language or the activity was new. This attitude is extremely important for progress. Fluency and confidence grow much faster when a learner is ready to speak and stay in the conversation and that is exactly what you did today.

Overall presence: You kept your ideas clear, adapted well to different activities (speaking, listening, grammar, body language, connected speech), and showed a positive, focused energy throughout. That combination is a very good base for the next stage of the course.

The next step is to start using more advanced vocabulary so you can express the same ideas with greater precision and richness. We will work on expanding your diction not only to be understood, but to sound clearer, more natural and more professional in travel situations and in coordination meetings. You are clearly ready for that step.